ARMY-NAVY UNION SETS FLORAL BOATS ADRIFT

Impressive Services Held in Honor of Maine and F-4 Dead—Ben-son Leads Parade.

Impressive ceremonies marked the observance of Memorial Day by the members of the Army and Navy Union. Floral boats were set adrift on the Potomac to mark the watery graves of the victims of the Maine, and of the submarine F-4, which sank in Honolulu.

The floral boats, each bearing the name of a branch of the Union, were set adrift from the gunboat Sylvia. A salute to the dead was fired by the guns of the vessel.

Another feature of the Army and Navy Union observance was a parade along Pennsylvania avenue led by Rear Admiral W. F. Benson and Maj. George Barnett, U. S. M. C. The parade formed at Fourth and A streets.

The principal speakers at the Union's Arlington service were Representative Meeker, of Missouri; Representative John E. Baker, of California; and Dr. Joaquin R. Torrobas, Charge d'Affaires of Cuba. Rear Admiral Benson presided. Music was furnished by the United States Engineers Band.

The exercises were opened by Rev. James Shera Montgomery. Floral tributes were placed on the Maine monument by the women of the Auxiliary Army and Navy League. Sailors from the Mayflower fired a volley in honor of the dead.

VETERANS AT SERVICES ON FORMER BATTLEFIELD

At memorial services at Battleground Cemetery, W. V. Cox told of the notable part that Fort Stevens played in the preservation of the Capitol. The ceremonies were under the direction of Capt. Newton M. Brooks, past commander.

Other speakers were Col. Thomas M. Scott, and Representative Kahn, of California. Lincoln's Gettysburg address was read by Harry Bulkeley.

The following survivors of the fighting at Fort Stevens were present: Charles V. Pettaya, M. D., president; Charles H. Worden, vice president; Howard M. Gillman, secretary; John M. Kline, Newton M. Brooks, past commander; H. P. Bingham, E. R. Campbell, W. R. Goodman, J. H. Hendrix, Edwin Ham, Joseph Haslam, James Mattison, Alexander Scott, F. E. Swayze, B. F. Sparhawk, T. E. Sewell and I. C. White.

The Grand Army committee in charge was composed of Capt. Newton M. Brooks, Louis P. Shoemaker, Charles C. Royce, Gilbert M. Husted and Daniel O'C. Callaghan.

SOLONS BRAVE RAINS TO SEE PATROL AEROPLANE

Senator Tillman, chairman of the Senate Naval Committee; James R. Mann, Republican leader of the House of Representatives; and Representatives Frank Clark, of Florida; Dent, of Alabama; Kreider, of Pennsylvania; Garner, of Texas; House, of Kentucky; and James P. Buchanan, of Texas, were among the soloists who made trips in the rain yesterday to inspect the hydro-aeroplane which the National Aerial Coast Patrol Commission placed on exhibition opposite the House Office Building.

Capt. Ralph Taylor, of the Connecticut Naval Reserve, and Ensign Roger Van Kirk, of the District Naval Militia, both aviators, were on hand all day in spite of the frequent downpours to explain the fine points of the machine. The big flier has been viewed by 2,500 Washingtonians in two days. It is estimated that yesterday it was made part of the Decoration Day celebration by hundreds of people.

FOOD PRICES INCREASE.

Department of Labor Figures Show Costs in Past Year.

Figures made public by the Department of Labor yesterday show that prices of staple food, in the United States, increased 1.1 per cent from February 15 to March 15 last. All meat and sugar prices increased. Eggs, milk, flour and potatoes were cheaper.

Prices advanced 8 per cent during the year from March, 1915 to March, 1916. A table covering prices for the last fifteen years shows that the purchasing power of a dollar decreased steadily in all foods.

Paris Honors American Heroes.

Paris, May 30.—Impressive open-air memorial services for the Americans who have died for France in the present war were held today in the Place des Etats Unis, before the statue of Lafayette and Washington.

WASHINGTON AGENT FAIRBANKS SCALE CO. HAPPY OVER RESULTS

Had Catarrh of Nose and Throat 15 Years—Dreco Brings Much Relief.

To have, suffered for fifteen years from that most annoying disease, catarrh of the nose and throat, and then find a remedy that brings relief is enough to make anyone happy. It makes him want to tell about it in the papers so other sufferers may obtain the same relief. Here is a business man in Washington, representing the largest concern of its kind in the country, who made a signed statement that he had suffered fifteen years from that awful malady, catarrh, that continual dripping which kept him constantly trying to clear his throat. During that time he spent hundreds of dollars seeking relief—and three bottles, think of it, three dollars spent for Dreco had done him more good than all the medicine combined he had used before. That man is Mr. Fred B. Miller, 510 Tenth street northwest, where he holds the agency for the Fairbanks Scale Company for Washington. Mr. Miller was fortunate indeed to find Dreco, for eventually catarrh leads to deafness and other serious troubles. If you have catarrh, get a bottle today from any of the O'Donnell drug stores, or Bury's in Anacostia. Allen's in Alexandria. Accept no substitute. Insist on Dreco. Price, $1.—Adv.

How Am I to Tell Which Car to Buy?

Eighty-two persons have bought Saxon cars in Washington in seventy days, strictly on the merits of the car. Not by one penny discount. Not by trading in their old car for twice what it was worth. Not by buying it on the installment plan on long-term notes. Not because our salesmen worried the owner into buying.

Every purchaser of a Saxon car was financially able and morally responsible to make his own selection of the cars on the market today. Every purchaser who traded in a second-hand car could have received from $25 to $100 more than we allowed for it.

Every purchaser had the privilege of turning the car back within one week from date of purchase and receive his money in full if he had desired. This should be conclusive proof that the Saxon sells on its merit and stays sold on its independent ability.

THE CONFUSING QUESTION PRESENTS ITSELF, HOW AM I TO TELL WHAT CAR TO BUY? You might hear the objection arise, of "who ever heard of the Saxon until two years ago." The Saxon car is made by one of the oldest automobile specialist manufacturing companies in the U. S. and are world renowned for the best that America can produce.

For your information cut out the following list and without mentioning the make of the car ask for the criticism of competitive dealers concerning Continental motors, Timken rear construction, transmissions and front axles, Warner steering gear, Wagner two-unit starter, Fedders' Honeycomb radiator, Atwater Kent ignition, Rayheld carburetor, Standwell demountable rims.

If units make the motor car, who makes and guarantees the units? Make an investment in an automobile the same as any other investment. Would you buy standard stock selling below par? Then why consider buying an automobile that has depreciated below the list price before it leaves the agent's hands.

If you buy a Saxon car, it will be strictly on its merits, and because you can afford to buy it. Saxon owners enjoy this distinction, in addition to having the satisfied feeling of getting the best automobile value on the market today, up to twelve or fourteen hundred dollars.
